During FY 1972 negotiations that had been proceeding for about two years among the National Park Service, the Federal Highway Administration, the General Services Administration and the Central Intelligence Agency culminated in the transfer to CIA of 43.776 acres of land from the Bureau of Public Roads. Subsequent to the acquisition the additional parcel was enclosed by a chain link fence and an unused water tower was dismantled and removed.

FY 72 Annual Report - Career Management Office/DDS

1. During the period 19 - 21 September 1971 the Support Career Service Conference was held at The 25X1 Conference was designed to encourage maximum participation, discussion and interchange of ideas. There is little doubt that this goal was achieved. Four major topics were discussed: (a) Plan for the future of the Support Directorate; (b) The Support Career Service: The current system and recommendations for improvement; (c) The Professionalization of the Support Officer; and (d) Career Management: The present system and what should it be.

2. Significant recommendations made at the Conference are listed below. The CMO/DDS office has spent considerable time during the past year working on these recommendations.

a. Develop a professional proactive and participatory role for the Support Directorate within the Agency. The Conference concluded that this would necessitate a change from classical Agency support to a more administrative role.

b. Participation in program and policy decision-making was considered a major goal. Organizational Development was considered 25X1 a possible means by which the Directorate in a rational way. Efforts are being made in this direction through meetings among the DD/S, ADD/S, and Directorate Office Heads.

c. Centralize Control of all Support people, slots, and funds within the DD/S.

d. Create an organizational environment that encourages innovation and change. In this regard it was agreed that there are distinct advantages in managing rather than reacting to demands for change. Lack of communication was discussed as a central theme. The establishment of the Support Officers Advisory Group was the outgrowth of the Conference. This group serves as a forum for the articulation of new ideas on Directorate problems, policies, and programs.

e. Give Support Officers at all grade levels an opportunity to participate in Directorate decision making wherever possible. The DD/S has approved the practice of appointing subpanels to rank Support careerists for promotion. Subpanel members appointed are two grades senior to the Officers being ranked. Subpanel members are rotated so as to avoid officers being ranked by the same subpanel members two years in a row.

f. Establish a subpanel that would focus on management of "Specialists" careers within the Service. Records Officers, Information Processing personnel and other specialists were given special attention by the establishment of a task force to study specialists in the Service. This group made many recommendations to the DD/S on how Specialists should be managed and the CMO/DDS has been designated as the Action Officer to carry out these recommendations. Accomplishment of these recommendations should lead to the lessening of specialists in the Support Career Service and direct more attention to career development of specialists already on board.

g. Recognize the need for a Career Development Program for Support Careerists by appointing a Career Development Officer.

h. Devise some form of communication to overseas Support Officers in order to keep them informed on matters concerning their career service. The results of the Support Officers Conference have been communicated to overseas personnel and additional information on career matters are being sent periodically.

i. Establish criteria concerning job experience, overseas duty, education and training which would allow orderly progression and increased responsibility for young officers accepted into the Support Career Service.

j. Look to the functional offices within the Directorate as the main source of acquiring additional personnel for the Support Career Service. The Career Management Officer has asked Directorate offices to submit names of personnel qualified and interested in the Support Career Service. Efforts will be made during the next year to select personnel from these lists who will experience a broadening of their career through assignment to Support positions. Should the careerist not be interested in the Support Career Service after completing a normal tour he will be permitted to return to his career service, hopefully, with a broader understanding of his Directorate and its mission.

k. Identify Support Officers at the GS-13 level and above who have executive potential. Subpanels have been appointed and the results of their reviews have been submitted to the DD/S. Future assignments, training and other career decisions will be made on the basis of these evaluations.

l. Investigate the feasibility of an inter-functional and intra-directorate management career service at the senior level.

m. Establish standardized criteria for the competitive evaluation of the Support Professional. The Support Officers Advisory Group has studied this matter thoroughly and has proposed revised criteria for the service. This system will be given a test run in the fall of 1972.

3. During the past year the Support Service Career Service system was reviewed and as a result the Support Career Service Career Board

The Support Career Service

1. In addition to the functional specialty career services of the Support Directorate (personnel, logistics, security, etc.), there is the Support Career Service which has its home base in the Office of the Deputy Director for Support. This Career Service at 30 June 1972 consisted of 25X9 employees, grades GS-18 through GS-3. The officer group, those GS-9 and above, are assigned throughout all Directorates and Independent 25X1 Offices at foreign posts. These widely skilled support specialists serve in a variety of general support assignments as well as in such top positions as the ADD/S, the Director and Deputy Director of Logistics and the Chief, Audit Staff.

2. Career management of this group is accomplished through three mechanisms. A Deputy Director's Panel is responsible for career management and development of all officers grade GS-15 and above, presently 25X9 totalling The Deputy Director's Panel consists of the ADD/S as Chairman and five senior officers of the Directorate. This Panel is responsible for continuously reviewing all requirements for "S" Career Service officers at the GS-15 and supergrade level, taking action on assignments, promotions, training, etc.

3. The Staff Operations Panel is responsible for the general career management of "S" careerists at the GS-14 level and below, presently 25X9 totalling The main interest of this Panel is centered on the group

GS-9 through 14 since this constitutes the group that are serving in the general support field. The Panel has cognizance of the remaining members of the "S" Service who are GS-8 and below (a total of) and from time to time is called upon to advise or recommend action to the DD/S for members of this group. In practice the DD/S Career Management Officer, who serves as Executive Secretary to both the Deputy Director's Panel and the Staff Operations Panel accomplishes career management actions directly with Staff Chiefs of the DD/S under whose jurisdiction all of them are utilized. 25X9

4. The "S" Career Service recently adopted a policy of recruitment of new Support Generalists from among the offices of the Support Directorate. By following this practice the Support Generalists of the future will have had in depth training and experience in at least one of the support specialities. For the foreseeable future, it is not planned to introduce new Support Generalists from externally recruited graduates of the career trainee program.
